Fine by me. I really enjoy working together on this in iterations with you. The back and forth produces a much better product and one that clearly communicates what you want it to. The danger, however, is that if you get more than two at a time we'll get drafts screwed up and people do work that doesn't catch up to the next person and then you end up sorting it out.

If it works for you I'm ok with it, but I also don't mind stepping back for a day or two while you work with him, then he steps back and I work with you. I'm not into changing your message at this point, just clarifying and honing what you have.

Fyi I'm sharing sos with him. Told him its a tight circle to keep the opinions minimal, but wanted him to check resource references. He's thrilled to do so.

He's a good man.

Subject: URGENT — Dillingham murder of 14 year old investigation - requested

Dear Governor Palin & Attorney General Colberg:

This is a very difficult email to send. I'd like to ask the State of Alaska's Attorney General's office to investigate the circumstances involving a murder of a 14 year boy in Dillingham by another 14 year old.

I've always been suspcious of how this happened, but, yesterday on a flight from Dillingham to Anchorage I heard through a foster parent that the 14 year old suspect (Privileged or Per) was in the State of Alaska's custody at the time he killed the victim. I heard rumor previously this is the case, but, I think this warrants an independent review from the Attorney General's office.

The suspect (Privileged or Per) was on a home visit to his mother's house (where the state previously removed him from) and the mother was intoxicated & allowed the child to drink alcohol when the murder occurred. It's a horrible situation in which the State of Alaska needs to be accountable for -- there's people working in positions that made decisions that allowed this horrific event to take place and we need someone to step in from outside of Dillingham to review it. The family of the victim is from a village and I'm sure has no idea of the circumstances of the case and aren't red-tape savvy to inquire themselves. The homicide occurred in June of 2007. I think there's people in Dillingham keeping things 'hush hush' to protect their jobs.

I also ask the Attorney General to investigate how the case is proceeding. My suggestion is that the Attorney General's Office request an entire copy of the court files involving Privileged or Perso

(both the Child in Need of Aid Case & the Deliquency Case) from the court. Then I think the AG should get a copy of the District Attorney's files and then copies of the Office of Children's Services Files on Privileged or Pers and her mother. He should spring it on everyone at the same time &. I think this warrants a visit from an Independent Investigator from the AG's office to visit Dillingham.

Our community is majorly dysfuncitonal and this is a true sign of the dysfunction that I saw as 12 years when I was the Clerk of Court and Deputy Magistrate in Dillingham. My 14 year old daughter RoxAnn attended school with the suspect and the poor child never had a chance in life. It's a sad, sad day in the State of Alaska when the children we're supposed to be protecting and in state custody take the life of another in a black out alcoholic state.

I can be reached at (206)733-0360 cell phone, or at work Ocean Beauty Seafoods in Seattle (206)285-6800 ex 1967. I'd never, ever go to the press with this information, but, if I'm putting this together from outside the State system from rumors, the press will surely get ahold of it soon. Your administration needs to be on it.
Thank you. I look forward to hearing a response soon.

Sincerely,
Cindy Roque

I hope you all had a chance to read the Fairbanks Daily Newsminer today. The front page had a good article from Dillion. The front page on the B section talks about Port Authority options. I don't think we could ask for better initial comments about the Port Authority right after they received their news. Hope you all are having a great weekend. You deserve it! God bless. Tom
